Good day, entities. And a fine day it is as you look around your world and find people, places, circumstances and events for which to be grateful. Surely does your appreciation span vast regions of experience to include within your vibratory field a most profound sense of belonging.

Indeed some of you might be saying, "Nademus, yes there are wonderful things in our reality for which to hold gratitude, but look around. There is hunger. There is war and there is fear everywhere. For some, yes, there is much to be thankful for, but for a great many others, that surely is not the case." To that my friends, dear entities, I offer this invitation for you to reflect on a notion of thought to align your thoughts behind that which is appearances.

Appearances. What indeed are appearances? Does not the world and all within it exist? From where do you register the concept of appearances? I ask you, dear entities, to contemplate reality in a way that will afford you the promise of clarity and from that internal clarity, may you understand the cloak of appearances in the scheme of creation. Let us first review the means for creativity to set our foundation.

You, as creative God, are first and foremost, a creator, a creator of reality. That statement carries within it a multiple of codes for understanding the depth of your being. For you are God and you are of God. This is the awareness that motivates me to trigger your knowing. God Is and if you are God and of God, then all things that you create are also of God. Your creativity is inherent in the essence of who you are, and within your creative gestures you reflect the love of God. When you create you are in the beingness, the likeness of God.

Now, allow me to make distinction here because those of you who hold awareness of the ego know the type of stronghold it can utilize to incapacitate. You know the kinds of fears that propagate from alignment to ego. You understand that, as a part of you, ego has a hand in manifestation as well. I would wish at this junction to suggest that when manifestation occurs while aligned to ego that the result is made, not created. You might say this a distinction of verbiage as this surely means the same thing. Does not something appear before us in manifest form in the same way?

Indeed, entities, manifestation occurs as and through the process of creation wherein the Laws of the Universe interplay and interact, articulating and enacting the manifestation of a physical reality for you. Yet, the appearance of reality in the form of the world within which you experience your life as you know it, is but a visual representation of the consciousness that formed the original thought. This thought which triggers a neutral emotion (energy in motion) is imbued with the essence and impetus of the attitudes and belief systems you each hold. So what we are playing with is the subtle but highly significant differentiation of whether the focus is God oriented or ego oriented. Know this: your God focus creates reality and your ego focus makes reality.

I make this distinction because of the nature of who you are. For years and years I have shared that you are the creator of your own reality. Now it is time to refine the truth of that statement to greater and deeper levels of understanding because each of you are in that very deepening process. You are eager to see clearly and you are eager to express from the God within you, the Lord God of your being.

You have the ability to create because All That Is, Mother/Father God, Source, Beloved Presence of Light, whatever term you may most connect with, extended Itself unto you, the Sons and Daughters of God. The extension of Godself to the Sons and Daughters of God is the natural extension of Love. This Love provides the source origins of all life and it is through this love that the light of God enacts Itself with the extensions of Itself.

Knowing and understanding this, fully integrating the purely divine substance from which you emerged and now carry within, is the initiative to create, and create you have done for eons. But there was a 'moment' in thought where you, the Sons and Daughters of God, through the nuance of thought and the free will of creativity that was endowed within you, thought the thought of separation from God and thusly began the consequential movement into a state of making reality. From the moment you began to perceive that you were separate from God the Father, you, who have never been separated from God, began the journey into perceived fear under the auspices of ego. From that point, whenever you processed through manifestation, you utilized ego in the process. The consequent manifestations were made in the image of God, but were not of the essence of God. That is how you "make" rather than create reality.

So, manifestations hold within them a picture, a vagueness, an illusion of reality, or in other word, appearances. Appearances are the pictures of thought led by ego. Understand ego is that part of you impeccable in its ability to support and guide your third dimensional bodily process, but which is totally incapable of articulating even the visage of a truthful and honorable guidance system along the lines of spiritual countenance. Yet, through your perceptions of your separation from God did you begin to seek succor and comfort to assuage your guilt from doing the unthinkable. Somehow through what you perceived was your own volition, you thought you stepped away from God. How could you then ask God for guidance that you now seemed to need so much of because of this very sense of separation? So this is when ego began its stronghold, and you began making reality and reality began its epoch of appearances.

The world of appearances then, holds a vague sort of reliability. Things appear real with the semblance of truth, but if you register within and consult your Truth Center, this connection will register the truth of the illusion that has formed as reality and you will begin to see beyond the veil of illusion and into the sphere of resonance to your true origins as extensions of God. Your Truth Center is the third chakra center, the solar plexus, that is directly connected with your Higher Self and Soul, with which you truly are in connection to God and the Source energy that ego wants you to believe you are separate from.

The world appears to conduct itself along lines of behavior within the realms of societies, countries, families, marketplaces, nature, solar systems and universes, power mongers and victims. These are appearances and appearances can deceive. Is that not what magic is all about? Remember, the magic of perception is illusion. But you perceive reality as it is you have created or made it, individually and en masse. It is your current point of focus to distinguish between what you and your fellow creators have made and what you have created, for not the whole of the world you perceive was made through the auspices of ego. Know that what is real is the whole of the world that was created through the love within you, the God within you. The rest is illusion.

What have you created through love? Entities, you have created the greatness of the extension of love. Whenever you express and enact love with yourself or with others, you are creating from the Divine. So, creating love in the midst of an illusion made by ego is an interesting experience. It is interesting because of the reality within the illusion. You are the reality; what you make is illusion. Distinguishing between the two can be perceived as difficult because ego, of course, will have the loudest voice and this booming voice will impart to you the "truth" it wishes for you to believe. If you believe it, you continue in a pattern of making reality and perpetuating the fearful reality of illusion. If you refuse to hear the voice of trickery and listen instead to that still, gentle quietness within you that exemplifies the voice of God, then that peaceful loving essence fills and reminds you of the generative capacity of the Creator, your Father and true Self.

Entities, I implore you to consider the distinction that I have reminded you of this day. The only way that you will truly know the difference is to feel it and to use your feeling body through the solar plexus to connect with your wholeness and render the holiness of God incarnate within this plane of existence. Love yourself beyond appearances into the reality that is your birthright. Love yourselves whole. See appearances for what they are and give them no mind, no focus and consequently no power for manifestation. In this way you bring to fruition the peaceful countenance of experience because by doing so will you render a reality created by God, for God. You will be in Love and that is the most natural place to be. So, I take my leave with you now understanding your opulence, your magnitude and your capacity and also, understanding appearances. Indeed, entities, be in Love.

I bid you adieu. With God you are and I am. So be it. Indeed.
