Precision of Thought Nademus

Good day, entities. And it is a fine day in which we are articulating thought for the purpose of interacting with the ideas you are expressing that reflect to you, your life. In these thoughts, in these times, your interaction with ideas is becoming more and more clear and most importantly, more and more precise.

Precision of thought is the means by which you assume responsibility for each of your creative thrusts into and upon the plane of demonstration. And what is meant by precision of thought? Simply and succinctly, clarity of intent which leaves no room for assumption or misunderstanding. I ask you to consider the experiences of your life. Reach into your expression and check in with what is termed to be a “fine tooth comb”. What you may find in that examination is the remnant of old paradigm thought and reasoning. In other words, the way you have always done it.

Your communication with self and communication with one another is a subject to which I give a great deal of attention. Why, you might ask? It is to set the creative groundwork for manifesting clarity of intent, which cannot be accomplished when imprecise thought forms the template.

Let us begin with this template. As you know, it is your mental body that initiates the manifestation process. Through desire, supported by and structured by your belief systems and attitudes, you form what I term “the template of creation”. This template, or cookie-cutter concept, literally holds the defined parameters of the consequent physical manifestation. This thought triggers your emotional body to vibrate and connect with the energetic parameters of the thought, literally toning to the universe your individuated request of the moment.

So, your thought is the tool by which you articulate creation. In this third dimension you are very familiar with the process of creation, yet, many are finding themselves still very inarticulate in the process of deliberate thought with the specific purpose of deliberate creation.

Remedial? Maybe, for some of you. But by no means is this information redundant. Redundancy is applicable when the message is known and understood - yet offered over and over. This concept of creation has, yes, been offered over and over, but all but the very small percentage of you still are grappling with the actualization of the message. That figure is on the threshold of a major change, however.

The number of awakening soul extensions, you, Dear Ones, is about to mark the beginning of a great movement. You are currently experiencing phases of humanity in the throes of decision-making and awakening their spiritual bodies to the coming ascension. The phase of humanity for which this awakening is occurring is somewhat more relegated unto the generations of individuals 40 years and older. These are the individuals most entrained by their programming and societal conditioning.

There is a phase from the ages of approximately 16 to 30, the Indigos, who have passed into a stage of development wherein their ultimate creative flow is contingent upon reaching critical mass with the whole of society in the awakening process. They have entered into this physical realm as a generation of highly developed template makers. What I mean is that they hold the ability to be very precise and clear in their ability to speculate upon creative gestures marked by Universal thought. They are waiting, somewhat on a holding pattern. Their energetic fields are in a profoundly more awakened state of being, however, they too are forgetful of their fully divine natures.

Those individuals between the ages of 30 and 40 hold varying degrees of these states of mind and can often experience a complex array of emotional and mental challenges as a result of being “in-between” phases.

Those highly intuitional and balanced children born of the Violet Ray, generally 15 and under are, for the condition of the world and the directional force of your collective energies, the gift that you have proffered unto yourselves by virtue of agreement. They hold the finest attunement to self and generate a more aware expression. Their nervous systems assert greater capabilities of profound stability in the midst of chaos. Violet Ray children are the most awakened beings on your planet yet there is another phase of beings, the Crystal Children, who are coming into this physical plane in an already highly awakened state of being. They are highly sensitive and enlightened beings reflecting to you your vision. They reflect to you your light and also your shadow side by assisting in illuminating the darkness with their crystal clear essence.

Times are calling upon the forces of Light to reconnect humanity to its divine source and state of being. You are all awakening a mass movement into the Light, into the splendor of the creative experience wherein fear is forgotten rather than your own divine presence. So you have Lightworkers from all of these phases of humanity’s cross-section and it is the collective purpose and the collective insight that joins the template of creation with the knowledge that all are One. You, the Lightworkers of Planet Earth, assume the role of “the movers and the shakers”. You create the literal fabric of existence of Earth’s future, together and with a joint purpose. Precision of thought provides the means to function as a whole in the venture.

Now, I am not suggesting that every one of you Lightworkers must think the same thoughts, or live the same dreams, or enact the exact life experience. What I am suggesting here is that it is the Lightworkers that hold the understanding and the clarity of thought, to know the one great truth of Love. Love is life and its expression and articulation under the clarity of one being in individuated essence allows for the greatest and most profound expression of Light, the source of Love, the Source of Oneness.

As you are well aware, the subject of your individuation has been misinterpreted by altered ego to appear as a truth called separation. As this separation concept lends itself to the exploration of fear on all levels, an awakening is called for. This awakening for which the Lightworkers strive and align, is undergoing a renewal of sorts as you recognize that things are not as they were. This recognition seems mundane in the face of the tremendous world change that is occurring at rapid speed. The undercurrents and undertow of such profound and swift change seems to tug at your foundation as you strive to “hold your own” in an ever-changing landscape.

This is why precision of thought is so vital. If you listen, you will hear and understand the Violet and Crystal children in their thought formations. Their scope of thought articulation is far beyond their years and literally stuns the adults in their lives with their astute observations and clear knowing. Learn from them and watch what they do. Hear how they do it. Emulate their personal adaptations of the unity that humanity is striving for.

Communication is of paramount importance to succeed in supporting the ever-awakening populace from their stupor. And communication without precision of thought sets up and literally calls for, misunderstandings, assumptions and conflict. In other words, where there is room for misunderstanding and misinterpretation, through default creation using templates of the old paradigm, then the templates hold the space for continuing misunderstandings.

Do you understand what I mean here, and it's importance?

What I am saying is the very notion of imprecise thought and its creative implementation is the basis of conflict. There are of course other factors, however the premise of conflict arises out of imprecise thought due to broad potential for interpretation. Is it hard to have precise thought? You tell me. Is it easier to attempt to swiftly convey a thought with allusions to the idea and later go through the lengthy and challenging process of “fixing” the original communication, sometimes involving not only individuals but often nations of the world. Or, would it be easier to be very, very clear and complete in your communications to address an issue or idea with the wholeness of a full, inclusive and encompassing communication? I would heartily suggest the latter as the clarity not only assists on the level of conflict, but also assists on the level of personal evolution.

Consider that imprecise communications suggest political correctness, so called manners and mores, situational truths, open-ended answers and so on. If you take the “time” to be very clear regarding your thought template, or your template of creation, then the stage is set to allow your energies unimpeded focus upon that clarity. The clarity then renders a resulting manifestation in alignment to the flow of the universal truth of Love and Oneness that is the object of humanity's collective desire on its ascension path.

All you would want to do is to revisit an area of conflict and misunderstanding in your life experience, to see that it was a cascading series of imprecise thoughts and thought templates that propelled the difficulties. As you view these conflicts, I would invite and suggest that you do so from the perspective of an observer rather than from a point of judgment. This will allow for the wisdom and the truth of the situation to come completely forward. This is an act of love you offer yourself to review your creations with the unconditional love of the Master you are. This mastership assures the glorious retrieval of truth and wisdom from any and all situations and experiences, which, when rendered through the soul and monad, provide All That Is with the fruits of your experience to consequently expand and enhance itself and its glorious expression.

Precision of thought is an opportunity for the rendering of Truth in a world of misunderstanding. This Truth holds the seed and nurturance of love. Lightworkers, be that seed and water it with your love and watch critical mass reach its apex. See the light progress and process and be One with the awakening mass of humanity. All the phases of humanity that I spoke of earlier are part of the same whole, the only difference being the degree of light within.

Working and playing together in this life expression is your birthright. Listen to the wisdom of your youth. Allow their proximity to self to shine its light on you. And you can achieve greater and greater clarity with your willingness to receive this Light. Remember also, that Light is knowledge and knowledge is clear knowing. Clear knowing formats the precision of thought and precise thought opens the gates for truth and love to become the greatest teacher of all mankind. Your truth and love.

I am Nademus. I bid you adieu. With God you are and I am. So be it. Indeed.
